Demonstration in St. Petersburg Quelled by Soldiers and Police.

Nevsky Prospect the Scene of Wild Disorder and Thousands of Red Flags Were Flaunted by Frenzied Men and Women.

St. Petersburg. Dec. 11.—A popular anti-government demonstration, the participants in which included the large number of students of both sexes, began at midday in the Nevsky prospect and lasted about two hours. Hundreds of police and mounted gendarmes were hidden in the courtyard of the public building and emerged suddenly and charged the crowd at full gallop, driving the demonstrators in hadlong confusion and screaming with terror upon sidewalks and into adjacent streets. This led to serious encounters, fifty persons being more or less severely injured. Large numbers were arrested.

Red Flags Waved.

Toward 1 o'clock the workmen and for better things but the government students seemed to swarm toward the has turned a deaf ear to our cry. We corner of the Hotel Europe, opposite the Kazan cathedral. The police, recogizing that the critical moment was approaching, tried in vain to keep back the human tide. Then, when there was not a single mounted policeman in sight, on the stroke of one from the sight, on the stroke of one from the heart of the thickly wedged crowd a blood red flag, like a jet of flame, suddenly shot up. It was the signal. Other flags appeared in the crowd, waving and they were any and a government by frantically overhead; and they were greeted with a hoarse roar "Down with autocracy." The students surged into the street singing the "Marseillaise," while innocent spectators, seeking to extricate themselves, crowded into doorways and hugged the walls.

Charged With Drawn Sabres.

Dismounted police made a single attempt to force their way into the crowd to wrest the flags from the demonstrators, but the students and workmen, armed with sticks, stood close beat back their assailants. Then, like a flash, from behind the Kazan cathedral came a squadron of gen-darmerie. The doors of adjoining court yards were thrown back, and battalions of police came out. A double squadron charged the flank of the demonstrators with drawn sabres. Five other squadrons circled the mob, cutting through the fringe of spectators, who gladly scurried to cover. The main wedge of the demonstrators stood fast only a moment or two. There was a sharp rattle of cudgels and sabres, then the wounds showed that the police struct principally with the flat of their sabres The women were especially fierce i their resistance. Many were struck and trampled, and blood streamed down

Police Were Humane.

While the mob stood those within managed to throw thousands of revolutionary proclamations over the heads of their fellows. The police urged their horses fiercely into the crowds, driving those who resisted into the court yards, the Hotel Europe and the Catholic church. The intense excitement lasted about ten minutes, after which mounted squads of the gendarmerie patrolled the streets and the policemen devoted the research that the companions over devoted themselves to keeping the the side, had a severe six-hours' tussle

Considering the sharp fight the rioters had put up, the police acted humanely with the crowd, avoiding brutality and roughness in keeping the throng moving, and showing really more consideration than the police of many American ettics would do under herbar. many American cities would do under harbor similar circumstances.

Agitators Arrested.

In the meantime those confined in the court yards who were recognized as agitators were arrested, but others were severely wounded, though diately capsized.
